

My netiquette superpowers

1

I don't fight with other superheroes

I am kind to my friends – both in real life and online.

2

I can see the future

I know that my posts can have a lasting impact on me and others, so I always think twice before posting.

3

I think like a detective

I always verify information before sharing it with others.

I am immune to shape-shifting

I know that people can try to impersonate someone else online, so I only talk to people I personally know and trust.

4

5

I protect other superheroes

I always ask for consent before sharing photos or information about others.

I make other superheroes feel seen

I give my friends space in conversations and don't bombard them with too many messages.

6

7

I care even while invisible

Even when I'm immersed in the online world, I still respect the people around me in real life.

8

I am a master of communication

I can write messages and comments that are thoughtful, brief and polite.

I have a cool superhero name

I choose nicknames that are original and fun but don't reveal my true identity.

9

I am a master of multiple worlds

I enjoy being online, but I also value the fun moments happening offline.

I know that power comes with responsibility

I use my online influence positively and don't share things that may make others feel bad.
